

DISEC

Agenda: Addressing the Proliferation of Technologically Advanced Space-based Weapons of Mass Destruction and Preventing a New Age Arms Race Beyond Earth.

Rules of Procedure - Double Delegation

General Rules

1. The Shishukunj Model United Nations Conference shall be presided over by the Shishukunj MUN Secretariat, (henceforth known as the Secretariat) headed by the Secretary-General.
2. DISEC will be presided over by the Bureau, which shall be appointed by the Secretariat. It typically consists of a Chairperson, two Vice-Chairpersons and a Rapporteur.
3. Typically, the committee proceedings are divided into the following phases:
 - a. Debates and Discussions
 - b. Draft Resolution Discussion
4. Delegate(s) may only speak when the presiding official gives them permission to do so while the committee is in session, however this does not apply during the unmoderated caucuses.
5. English is the official language of the Shishukunj MUN and thus all communication amongst the delegates must be in English. All of the committee proceedings will take place in the Official Language as well.
6. Chits can be passed by delegates to communicate with either other delegates or the bureau, any chit/note is subjected to inspection by the members of the logistics team, bureau and/or the Secretariat. The presiding official has the power to regulate or completely stop the passing of chits during the committee hours as per their discretion. During the time of in-room and out-room proceedings, a delegate may use chits to communicate with their other delegate from either side.

7. Any arguments, solutions, replies, clarification and other content-related matters can only be presented by delegates through speeches and chits.
8. Motions are essentially used to indicate the change of state of the committee. These are introduced or raised by the delegate when asked by the presiding official. If a raised motion is in order, it is moved to vote, where the presiding official calls for delegates in support or 'for' the motion to raise their placards, followed by delegates against the motion. It is compulsory for delegates to vote either 'for' or 'against' a motion. Only if the number of delegates who voted for the motion is greater than the number of those who voted against it, does the motion pass. The presiding official may pass or fail a certain motion at their discretion, notwithstanding the outcome of the vote on the motion.
9. Points are raised by the delegates for better facilitation of the committee. Note that these are not used to put forth one's ideas but for committee conduction. Points are always and solely raised in an address to the Bureau or the presiding official; they are not raised in an address to another delegate. There are four points:
 - a. Point of Personal Privilege: These are raised to solve issues regarding the audibility of a speaker, permission to move out of committee and for logistical issues. For audibility, delegates may raise their placards during a speech, interrupting it. For the other matters, indication of point of personal privilege is up to the discretion of the presiding official, but it must never interrupt a speaker.
 - b. Point of Order: These are used to point out a procedural deviation by the presiding official. These are indicated by a 'T' formed with the placard on top and a hand below.
 - c. Point of Parliamentary Inquiry: These are used to ask doubts and questions related to the procedure and flow of debate. Parliamentary Inquiry can be raised only through notes or by approaching the bureau.
 - d. Point of Information: These are used to clarify content/agenda-related doubts from the presiding official. Points of Information can be raised only through chits or by approaching the bureau. [Cannot be used during Moderated Caucuses]

10. All committees will aim to prepare a draft resolution and have it agreed upon by the members of the committee in consensus. This may also be referred to as the outcome document.

Debates and Discussions

1. Bureau Briefing: The committee begins with an agenda briefing by the Bureau, wherein the agenda is explained in detail to all delegates present. The delegates can ask questions to the bureau during this time, after the basic briefing.
2. Roll Call: The presiding official takes a roll call of all delegates, to identify the number and countries of delegates present, and to set the quorum at the lowest whole number greater than or equal to 1/4th of the committee. As their names are called out, delegates say present if they are present. Note in a double delegation format, only one of the delegates must raise their placard and say present on behalf of both the delegates.
3. Motion to Set the Agenda: The presiding official calls for motions, where a motion to set the agenda must be raised. A delegate must raise a motion as “Motion to set the agenda to ____.” By setting the agenda, the General Speakers’ List is automatically opened.
4. General Speakers’ List: When the agenda is set, the committee automatically moves ahead with the General Speakers’ List (GSL). This is also known as formal debate. The presiding official may ask for delegates wishing to add their names to the GSL, at which point such delegates must raise their placards. The delegates may speak more than once in the GSL. Delegates may also get their names added to the GSL by sending a note to the Bureau. This speech sets the stance of a certain delegate on the agenda. The time limit on speeches in the GSL is 90 seconds, by default. The presiding official has the discretion to increase/decrease it to 60 – 120 seconds. If the time of speaker(s) is left, they must compulsorily yield their time. Also note that it is compulsory for both the delegates to give their GSL together, however the order in which they might give the speech shall be beforehand decided by both the delegates themselves.
5. Yields: If, after a GSL, a delegation has time left, he/she must yield the time in one of three ways. It is compulsory to yield unless the entire time is utilized by the delegate in giving a speech.
 - a) Yield to Points of Information: If the time left is greater than 10 seconds, the delegate can yield to points of information. The presiding official will ask for points of information (questions) on the speech given by the delegate. The number of questions is up to the discretion of the presiding official.

- b) Yield to Another Delegate: If the time left is greater than 10 seconds, the delegate can yield the remaining time to another delegate who can also use it to give a speech.
- c) Yield to the Presiding Official: The delegates can yield the remaining time to the presiding official who shall continue proceedings of the committee.

6. Informal Debate: After considerable time has been spent on the GSL, the presiding official may guide the committee in the way it can move forward. These would include forms of informal debate. The presiding official may ask for motions from the committee, when one of the following can be raised:

a. Moderated Caucus: These are informal debates where lists of speakers are prepared, who give time-limited speeches. The entire procedure is ‘moderated’ by the presiding official. The moderated caucus is raised for a limited total time, limited individual speaker’s time, and a particular subtopic of the agenda. It can be raised as: “Motion for moderated caucus on subtopic _____ for a total time of _____ minutes (max. 20 min.), with individual speaker’s time _____ seconds (max. 60 sec.).”

b. Unmoderated Caucus: These are informal sessions where the delegates are allowed to move around the committee room, lobby (persuade) with other delegates, form groups or blocs, and work on drafting of working papers (Point 8). It can be raised as “Motion for unmoderated caucus of total time _____ minutes (max. 20 min.).”

c. Extension: These are motions raised to extend an elapsed caucus (whose total time has gotten over). An extension may be granted for a maximum of half of the total time of the original moderated caucus or a maximum of 10 minutes for the unmoderated caucus.

7. After a caucus (if there is no extension), the committee generally moves back to formal debate. However, the presiding official may ask for new motions before any general speech. After several such sessions, the presiding official may ask the committee to move into an unmoderated caucus to draft a working paper.

8. Double Delegation Proceedings: The Double Delegate Committee shall comprise two categories of delegates: In-Room Delegates and Out-Room Delegates. The division of responsibilities between them shall be as follows:

- a. In-Room Delegate:

The In-Room Delegate is required to remain present inside the committee at all times. They will represent the official stance of the assigned portfolio by actively participating in formal proceedings such as moderated caucuses and formal speeches. Additionally, they will focus on forming alliances and advancing their delegation's agenda through verbal diplomacy within the committee.

b. Out-Room Delegate:

The Out-Room Delegate shall remain outside the committee and will primarily be responsible for traditional lobbying efforts. This includes initiating and managing informal discussions with other delegates and coordinating support. Furthermore, the Out-Room Delegate will take charge of drafting all forms of documentation, including but not limited to working papers and draft resolutions.

- c. Both delegates shall operate simultaneously, with one delegate present inside the committee delivering formal speeches during moderated caucuses, while the other remains outside the committee, engaging in lobbying efforts and drafting necessary documentation.
- d. The implementation of the Out-Room Delegate system shall be subject to the discretion of the committee bureau. Until a formal motion to activate the role of Out-Room Delegates is proposed and successfully passed through a majority vote within the committee, both representatives of each portfolio are required to remain inside the committee and participate in all proceedings. Once the motion is introduced, debated, and subsequently adopted by the committee, the designated Out-Room Delegates shall be permitted to exit the committee room to engage in lobbying activities and work on documentation such as working papers and draft resolutions.
- e. The selection of which delegate assumes the role of In-Room or Out-Room Delegate is entirely at the discretion of the delegation. This division of responsibilities may be altered at any stage during the committee sessions, depending on the delegation's strategy and convenience. Delegates are permitted to switch roles frequently, provided the transitions are smooth and well-coordinated. Such flexibility reflects positively on the delegation, as it showcases strong communication, mutual understanding, and efficient collaboration between the two representatives—attributes that are highly valued by the committee bureau. It is important to note that the implementation of the Out-Room Delegate system is contingent upon the approval of the committee. The process begins when a delegate raises a formal motion requesting the activation of Out-Room Delegates. This motion must be seconded and then subjected to a procedural vote. Only if the motion passes with a simple majority will Out-Room Delegates be allowed to step outside the committee to engage in lobbying and documentation tasks. Until such a motion is introduced and approved, both delegates are required to remain within the committee and participate in all proceedings jointly.
- f. It is imperative that both representatives maintain consistent and effective communication throughout the committee sessions, especially when one delegate is operating outside the committee room. A lack of coordination often results in discrepancies between the speeches delivered within the committee and the policies reflected in formal documentation prepared by the other delegate. Such inconsistencies create a negative impression before the bureau and may call into question the credibility and cohesion of the delegation.

- g. Both members of the delegation will be evaluated collectively. Accordingly, if the delegation is selected for an award by the bureau, it shall be conferred upon both delegates representing the portfolio.

9. Working Paper: A working paper is a document formulated by delegates in outroom as groups (there may be more than one group) to describe the direction of flow of the committee on a certain subtopic which has been discussed through various means and modes. This may vary from committee to committee.

- a. Format: A working paper has no format. It must, however, be prepared in a soft copy in .docx format. A structure of a working paper would contain the tentative solutions to be taken up. For your reference, an example working paper is available in Annexure 1 of this document.
- b. Requirements: A working paper would need a minimum of 1 sponsor and a minimum number of signatories, which is decided and told by the presiding official. It must also be named as 'Working Paper ____'.
- c. Introduction: The working paper, after being drafted, must be sent to the presiding official via a data transfer peripheral (pen drive, hard disk, SD card, etc.) or email. Only when it is approved by the presiding official, can it be introduced through a motion to introduce working paper, which is as "Motion to introduce 'Working Paper ' ____ ' to the committee."
- d. Discussion: During the discussion of the working paper, the in-room, out-room format would be closed, A working paper can be discussed in several ways:
 - i. Moderated Caucus
 - ii. Unmoderated Caucus
 - iii. 2 for, 2 against: Once a "Motion to have a 2 for, 2 against on Working Paper ____" passes, the presiding official calls for and selects from those wishing to speak for and those wishing to speak against the working paper. Each of the four delegates selected gets 60 seconds to give a speech for or against the document in question. The order of speeches is: for – against – against - for.
- e. Voting: A working paper can be put to vote after or before discussion on it, by calling for a "Motion to put Working Paper ____ to vote." The presiding official asks if there are any objections to the paper. If there are none, the working paper stands passed by consensus. In case there is even one objection, a vote is taken by the presiding official calling for delegates wishing to vote for the paper, those wishing to vote against it. A working paper passes if more delegates vote for it than against it.

10. Closing Briefing: After sufficient discussion has taken place in the committee for the day, the Bureau will call for the closing briefing. This briefing shall constitute three major aspects.

- i. Summarization of the work done on that day.
- ii. Set expectations for the next day.
- iii. Explanation of the format of a draft resolution and how it is written.

11. Draft Resolution: It is a concluding comprehensive document which encompasses all solutions which the committee has decided upon after all deliberations, discussions, and negotiations. The process of formulation and discussion of draft resolution is a tedious process which will commence on an individual level by delegates making individual draft resolutions and will continue till end of day 3.

a. Format: Unlike a working paper, a draft resolution has a proper formal format which has to be strictly followed. A draft resolution includes the name of the DR, the organ of the UN, name of the sponsors (which in UN4MUN procedure are all countries) and preliminary and operative clauses.

i. Pre-ambulatory clauses are references that provide context and note the developments/actions that have already been taken under the purview of the agenda. The first word of these clauses is a present continuous verb (V1+ing) or simple past verb (V2) [refer to Annexure 3], which are written in italics, and these clauses end with a comma.

ii. The operative clauses are solutions that have been conferred on and proposed by the delegates. These clauses begin with simple present verbs (V1+s) [refer to Annexure 4], which are bold and underlined, and these clauses end with a semi- colon. The last operative clause ends with a full stop; no full stop is put at any other place in the entire resolution. For your reference, an example draft resolution is available in Annexure 2 of this document.

b. Requirements: A draft resolution must have the names of all countries which in UN4MUN procedure are all countries. A DR is named as “Draft Resolution ____”.

c. Introduction: The draft resolution, after being drafted, during out-room must be sent to the presiding official via a data transfer peripheral (only pen drive) or email for soft copies. Once a draft resolution has been approved by the presiding official, after all informal consultations, and has been copied and distributed, a delegate may raise a “Motion to introduce the Draft Resolution ____ to the committee.”

d. Discussion and Voting: A draft resolution has already been discussed in detail in the informal consultations during its formulation. It is further discussed and voted upon through the Action Phase and further procedures.

Draft Resolution Discussion

1. Informal Consultations: The committee would move into informal consultations rather than into formal debate to work on the draft resolution. This is also called the Vienna Formula.
 - a. Informal-Informal (I): The formed blocs would, among themselves, negotiate and merge the draft resolutions formulated by each delegate into one single draft resolution which would be presented to the committee as 'Draft Resolution'.
 - b. Informal-Informal (II): The formed blocs will send a maximum two bloc representatives to the dais to show the resolution to the Bureau. After this, the representatives of the blocs would discuss together on certain subtopic(s) of the agenda and try to negotiate and come to a consensus on a single solution.
 - c. Formal-Informal (III): If by some time, consensus is not able to be reached, the presiding official may call for moderating the negotiations. In this section, the representatives may be changed by the bloc or retained from the previous section.
 - d. Once consensus starts to be reached among various blocs, they may move back to (II) to finalize the decision.
 - e. Once discussion on the subtopic(s) is done, new bloc representatives from each bloc are called to negotiate on the next subtopic(s). The cycle of (II) and (III) continues till a single resolution is received by the Bureau for the action phase.
2. Action Phase: The committee, after finalization of the resolution to be introduced, moves automatically into the action phase with a 'Draft Resolution Actioned' on the table. This resolution is then actioned, i.e., it is discussed and amended clause-by-clause. The presiding official may themselves, or call the sponsors for, reading out the resolution clause-by-clause.
 - a. Consensus and Objections: On reading of a certain clause, the presiding official calls for objections to a certain clause. If there are none, the clause is said to be 'Agreed AD. Ref'. If there are objections, these must be presented in the form of an amendment.
 - b. Amendment: An amendment aims to amend a part or the entire clause. Once an amendment is raised, the presiding official calls for objections to the amendment. If there are none, it is incorporated and more objections/amendments are entertained. If delegates object to an amendment, they must object by making an amendment to the amendment. There are five kinds of amendments:
 - i. Add: To add a word, phrase, sub-clause, or sub-sub-clause in the clause being discussed. It can also be used to add a clause before the clause being discussed.
 - ii. Remove: To remove a word, phrase, sub-sub-clause, or subclause.

iii. Replace: To replace a word, phrase, sub-clause, sub-sub clause, or clause with another. This is used when the meaning of the clause changes substantially due to the replacement.

iv Alternate: To change the wording of the clause without substantive change in its meaning. This includes breaking the clause into different clauses.

v. Delete: To remove the entire clause from the resolution.

- c. Amendments to amendments: The presiding official can recognize and record objections and amendments to an amendment. The process of identification of consensus takes place on these amendments to amendment. There can be 5 such amendments.

i. Retain: To retain or keep a clause as it is.

ii. Add

iii. Remove

iv. Replace

v. Alternate

- d. If a committee cannot reach a consensus on a certain amendment to amendment, the presiding official has the option to preside over negotiations through a formal-informal or to let a committee move into an informal-informal for building consensus. If consensus can still not be reached, the committee may move to other clauses and come back to the undecided clause later.
- e. Motion to Adjourn Debate: If consensus cannot be reached on a certain clause, a delegate may raise a “Motion to adjourn debate on clause ____.” If the motion passes, all unaccepted amendments to the clause are removed. The committee moves to the next clause.
- f. Identification of Consensus: Now, the presiding official will ask if there are any objections to the entire resolution. If there are none, the entire resolution is tagged as ‘Agreed AD. Ref’. If there are objections, the committee moves to voting on the resolution.
3. Voting on Resolution: The delegates can vote for or against the resolution or abstain from voting. This will be done by a simple show of placards. If the number of delegates voting for the resolution is greater than the number of delegates voting against it, the resolution passes.

While the resolution may pass by voting, in the United Nations, if countries cannot come to a consensus on a certain resolution, it is considered a FAILURE , even if it passes in a voting procedure.
